At a glance, you could almost imagine the cellist was not even aware of the rapt audience sitting in the pew. His eyes closed, his head leaning back, swaying from side to side – Bryan Cheng was one with his music.

Eighteen-year-old Bryan and his sister, pianist Silvie Cheng, 23, together form the Cheng2 Duo. They have performed across the globe, including a show in New York's Carnegie Hall, with their latest stop being the Festival Pontiac Enchanté on Sunday, July 19.
